Ask HN: Where to find a technical cofounder? - redguava I want to find a programmer with the knowledge and skills I need to build a B2B app that solves a real problem for my clients. This is not a hobby app - I've had a product built for a customer, I have a product vision and I need a coder. Does anyone know of a site, online forum, or maybe the HN community that would have suggestions for a good coder? ===== Ciantic If you can figure out ways to describe your problem in terms of software architecture requirements, your problem would be a good fit for a team of developers. What problem do you have? The initial concept of using light in electrical communications originated with the ether or electro-telegraph work during the 18th century. The design of telegraph wires and light bulbs was fundamentally the same. For example, the 1844 Varley and Clarke telegraph transmitting station in England used a system in which the transmitter and the receiver were linked by incandescent light bulbs. The light bulb heated a resistor to produce a current which was used to produce the signals. In the late 19th century

I have three provisioning profiles: one for ad-hoc, another for enterprise and the other for distribution. I have seen in the other stackoverflow questions that there are different kinds of provisioning profiles. So, what is the difference between Ad-hoc, Enterprise and Distribution provisioning profile types? A: Distribution provisioning profile is for app that will be available on app store. You can use it to upload app to app store Ad-hoc is for apps that need to be installed on development device. [Case report of thymic cyst with tension pneumothorax caused by emphysematous]. A 48-year-old woman with right pleural effusion was admitted to our hospital because of dyspnea, chest pain and back pain. Chest X-ray showed right pleural effusion and a tension pneumothorax was observed. Thoracic computed tomography (CT) revealed a right pleural effusion and a multilocular cystic mass was present with the chest wall, mediastinum, the pleura, the rib and the lung. An air-fluid level and air cystic formation were observed inside of the cyst. We suspect that the cyst originated from a thymus. Thymic cyst with tension pneumothorax is rare.Q: local::lib path problem with MSBuild I'm trying to build our solutions/projects from TFS. We use VS2010.
